

2022 ANNUAL REPORT

CONNECTIONS

Creating a Healthy Community. Together.

From the Foundation Board President

James Mahlon White

"Your confidence in us is so important to our caring and compassionate health care team, every day."

FOUNDATION BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Happy New Year! At the Bothwell Foundation, we are looking forward to the fresh start a new year always provides as we prepare for continued programs in the months ahead. We also reflect on an exciting past year, including these accomplishments:

- A successful Wear Red For Women luncheon and auction was held in February. Over 340 attended and we raised funds to purchase 16 AEDs to place around Pettis County.
- After two years away, we were back in person for the 2022 Lub Dub. We had 400-plus participants and raised over $22,000 for cardiac projects.
- During hospital week, we awarded over $255,000 to Bothwell for projects, equipment and scholarships.
- Four new committees were formed – Annual Support, Special Prospects, Community Relations and Employee Giving. These committees help create awareness and offer different ways community members can support the foundation.
- The Annual Support and Special Prospects committees established their new donor clubs and began raising funds for the K9 Security Dog Project. In just two months, over $45,000 was raised toward the project.
- We hosted the fourth annual Pinktober and second annual Blue Jeans for Bothwell in October creating awareness and raising funds for breast cancer support.
- The Community Relations committee hosted its first community seminar in November, Encouraging Stress Coping Skills. The event was for parents and leaders of youth on how to model and support stress management for healthy living.

We know we ask our generous community often to donate to our nonprofit hospital and we thank you for the many responses to our requests! The gifts provided in 2022 have supported many lifesaving programs. I hope you enjoy reading in this report all the ways you have helped us positively impact health and wellness in our community. Your confidence in us is so important to our caring and compassionate health care team, every day.

Wishing you all a healthy and prosperous 2023.

Volunteer Spotlight

Stafford Swearingen

"We simply need this hospital to flourish if our community is to grow and thrive."

For 11 years, Stafford Swearingen has been a fixture at Bothwell serving in many volunteer roles. He joined the Bothwell Foundation board in 2011 and held terms as vice president and president until he was appointed to the Bothwell Board of Trustees in 2019.

Over the past 18 months, the foundation has focused on growing its volunteer base and creating long-term fundraising goals. Lauren Thiel-Payne, foundation executive director, said one of Swearingen's greatest accomplishments has been his involvement in that transformation.

"Stafford wholeheartedly believed in the need to elevate the foundation and promised to recruit six new board members and help recruit six committee chairs," she said. "He has stayed true to his word and helped us accomplish those goals."

Swearingen said the decision to change the foundation's direction was easy and means ensuring the future of Bothwell Regional Health Center.

"Our hospital cannot survive in its current form without a thriving and growing foundation to financially support it," he said. "We simply need this hospital to flourish if our community is to grow and prosper."

While Swearingen and his wife, Gena, relocated to Cave Creek, Arizona in December, it doesn't mean he is leaving the foundation board.

"It has truly been an honor to serve and give back to an institution that has done so much for my family when needed," he said. "Now, I'm just a regular Joe, but hopefully still contributing and making a difference."

FOUNDATION POISED FOR GROWTH

When the Bothwell Foundation was created in 2005, its mission was to assist Bothwell Regional Health Center by providing money and resources to keep health care local, state-of-the-art and close to home. In 17 years, more than $4.5 million has been given to the health center by the foundation through fundraising, special events and sound investments. While the mission has not changed, how the foundation will continue supporting the health center is changing.

"We have a really strong board that offers great support to the hospital," said Jim White, foundation board president. "It's no surprise that rural hospitals have been struggling over the last several years. Our board agreed we needed to think of new and different ways to increase the support we offer."

FOUNDATION BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Going to the Next Level

To take the foundation to the next level, the board enlisted the assistance of Hillary Lyons Associates, a consulting firm that specializes in strengthening health care foundations. White said the board developed three goals along with focusing on opportunities to engage more with the communities Bothwell serves.

"Our goals include increasing the amount of support the foundation provides to Bothwell, increasing awareness of the hospital and services that are offered, and creating giving programs that anyone can participate in," he said.

To reach those goals, six new committees are being formed, and four are already in place and working. Lauren Thiel-Payne, Bothwell Foundation executive director, said the four committees are Community Relations, Special Prospects, Annual Support and Employee Giving.

"We plan to add committees for Business Relations and Planned Gifts," she said. "With the creation of the new committees, we now have nearly 100 new volunteers supporting the foundation and Bothwell."

Attendees at the Special Prospects committee's 1930's Social Club August mixer enjoyed socializing and learning about Bothwell Regional Health Center and the Bothwell Foundation's K9 Security Officer project.

Bothwell Security Director Todd Nappe spoke to attendees at the Special Prospects committee's 1930's Social Club November mixer about the need for a K9 security officer.

Bringing Goals Into Focus

Because more of the foundation's work will now be focused on other projects, Thiel-Payne said the foundation will discontinue some special events but continue to offer its signature events including the Wear Red for Women luncheon and auction and Lub Dub 5K/10K Run/Walk.

"The board agreed there are already so many great events happening in Pettis and Benton counties," she said. "We are keeping Wear Red and Lub Dub, which are popular events, but we have removed the biennial gala and celebrity bartender events to focus on other important work."

In 2022, the foundation awarded over $1.2 million to Bothwell for equipment and projects. The most recent project was funding nearly $800,000 for an upgrade to the Oncology department's CT scanner and purchasing a new CT scanner at the hospital to replace the existing scanner.

White, who's served on the foundation board for more than 10 years, said the foundation wanted to show its support and commitment to Bothwell with this year's funding awards.

"In order to maintain a strong community, you need a strong hospital," he said. "We are fortunate to have Bothwell that has the latest medical equipment and facilities, provides disease prevention and health education, recruits and retains the best medical staff, and is locally managed and community owned. We're really proud of our health center, and it's our job to help make sure it's still here in the future."

Special Prospects Committee

The first committee to launch was the Special Prospects committee, led by Scott and Lindsey Benbrook of Sedalia. Lindsey is a member of the Bothwell Foundation's Board of Directors and said the first order of work for the committee was to create the MCMXXX's (1930's) Social Club.

The name is a nod to the year Bothwell hospital opened, and the club includes people financially committed to the hospital's long-term success in the community. The committee has already hosted two social events this year and has a third planned in February. The events are casual and informal opportunities for guests to learn more about Bothwell and the purpose of the club.

The first two events were an opportunity for guests to hear updates from James White, foundation board chair and Lori Wightman, Bothwell CEO, in an informal setting. The group also learned about the purpose of the Social Club and how membership helps advance Bothwell's mission.

At the August event Todd Nappe, Security director, and Paul Knocke, MHA Administrative summer intern, gave a presentation on the need for a K9 security officer at Bothwell, and Laura Weisenburger, Nursing educator and recruiter, demonstrated the department's new virtual reality training system.

"Scott and I said yes to chairing this committee because we understand how important local access to quality health care is for the overall health of our community," Lindsey said. "As a nonprofit, independent health center, it is vitally important that the entire community understands the responsibility we all have for Bothwell's success. By chairing this committee, we look forward to providing a fun way for people to learn about Bothwell and make contributions that will help it continue providing quality health care for everyone it serves."

Lindsey said that one of her and Scott's favorite things about their committee is that the group gets to decide which projects it wants to support from a list of priorities. Their committee and the Annual Support committee both elected to raise funds for a K9 security dog for the hospital, and the fund-raising goal of $52,000 was met in January.

Bothwell Foundation Special Prospects Committee Cochair Lindsey Benbrook chats with Foundation President Jim White at the committee's first social event in August. The committee's next event was a "Bite-Size Bothwell" Lunch and Learn on Feb. 8.

- Scott and Lindsey Benbrook, Chairs
- Lori Wightman, Senior Leadership Team representative
- Mike and Chele Trammell
- Jeff and Tenea Lowman
- Reid and Libby Swearingen
- Kyle and Roxy Herrick
- Dr. Dan and Meghan Woolery

"Hospital settings can create stress for people and the presence of a dog is proven to de-escalate situations effectively," Lindsey said. "This is our near-term goal, but the long-term plan is to build a large base of members with the common goal of ensuring the hospital's viability in our community."

The committee will host other events to recruit members to the Social Club. Members will be recognized on new digital displays at Bothwell and receive special announcements related to new programs and services, plus invitations to hospital events and celebrations including the annual 1930's Social Club celebration events.

For more information or to join the 1930's Social Club, visit brhc.org/foundation-giving/1930s-social-club/

Annual Support Committee

The foundation's Annual Support Campaign is an opportunity for people to provide sustaining and ongoing support to the hospital. Annual support donations are used where the need is the greatest whether that is for patient care, hospital or clinic equipment or technology or scholarships for employees to further their health care education.

Donations have recently been used to purchase cast saws, patient scales, computer software, treadmills, bassinets, blood pressure machines and virtual reality training equipment for nurses.

This year, the committee elected to raise funds for a K9 security dog for the hospital.

Community Relations Committee

While the foundation's Special Prospects, Annual Support and Employee Giving committees are focused on growing the number of supporters and donors to the foundation, the Community Relations committee has a different charge.

Cliff Callis, Community Relations chair, said the committee's goals are to create awareness of Bothwell services in the community and provide educational opportunities that share resources and support to people about health challenges they or their families are facing.

"Bothwell has experts that can speak about most any health topic from A to Z," Callis said. "We also have a community that wants more information about how to physically and emotionally care for themselves and their loved ones in a healthy way. Our committee's job is to help make our community aware of the outstanding health services and care that Bothwell provides."

In November, the committee hosted its first free community seminar for parents and youth leaders on how to identify and support young people experiencing stress. The committee is also organizing tours of the hospital and planning four educational seminars in 2023.

Seminar speakers included Dr. Robynne Lute, Bothwell behavioral health consultant, Sarah Price, Bothwell TLC Pediatrics nurse practitioner, Carolyn Gibson, doctoral psychology intern and October Zhang, MU medical student

Employee Giving Committee

Subscribing to the philosophy that "it begins with us," the Employee Giving committee has created the Employee Partners Invested in Caring (EPIC) Club. The committee's goals are to create greater awareness among Bothwell employees of the foundation's purpose as well as enlist their financial support to fund special projects that may benefit employees, patients, visitors or facilities. Support by employees demonstrates to other advocates that there is a deep commitment to the foundation and its mission.

Depending on the amount of funds raised, donations to the EPIC Club will fund cold weather wear for employees who work in the elements, a handicap-accessible golf cart for patient transport, an employee food pantry and support of the revamped Miracle on 14th Street Employee Assistance Fund.

Fourth Annual Wear Red for Women Happening Feb. 24

Due to overwhelming response, tickets for the fourth annual Wear Red for Women luncheon and auction are sold out! However, free tickets for online bidding and sponsorships for all or part of the $1,700 cost of an AED are still available.

This year's featured speaker is Chef Liz Huff, owner of Catalpa restaurant in historic Arrow Rock, who will delight attendees with a heart-healthy cooking demonstration.

For the second year in a row, a beautiful collection of custom-made silk scarves will be on the auction bill along with purses and other items for all budgets. This year, scarves were painted by committee members during three painting nights held in the historic Lamy's Building.

Thank you to Vicki Weaver, Daum Museum curator of education, Don Luper, State Fair Community College art program coordinator and Josh Heimsoth, SFCC art instructor, for their guidance leading the groups on the way to creating beautiful wearable art. Weaver, Luper and Heimsoth joined in the fun and created scarves as well.

Proceeds from the annual luncheon and auction go toward achieving the goal of having automated external defibrillators (AEDs) in every place people work, learn, play or pray in Pettis County. Since the event's inception in 2020, 47 AEDs have been placed in or committed to high-traffic locations throughout our community.

Since the LUB DUB began in 2008, the event has raised more than $262,575. All proceeds benefit the Camye Callis Gaspard Memorial Heart Fund that provides cardiac-related equipment and items to Bothwell Regional Health Center and to communities in Pettis and Benton counties.

Items that have been purchased include AEDs for Pettis and Benton counties, AEDs for Bothwell Medical Equipment, cardiac monitors for Bothwell Regional Health Center, XperSwing (used in the Cardiac Cath lab and allows an X-ray to take continual images as it rotates around the patient, cuts procedure times and the use of contrast (dye) by 20 percent and the exposure to radiation by half), and NuStep Machine (stationary bike used by cardiac rehab patients).

Nevin Almquist Scholarship

On June 1, the Bothwell Foundation hosted a memorial reception celebrating Nevin Almquist. Almquist was a physical therapist at Bothwell from 1967 until his retirement in 2012. He passed away in 2020, and his family donated $50,000 to the foundation to create the Nevin Almquist Physical Therapy Scholarship endowment. The scholarship provides resources for students interested in the physical therapy field as well as current Bothwell physical therapists wishing to receive continuing education or training they need to serve the patients they care for each day.

Steve Davis, Bothwell chief financial officer, opened the event with remarks and memories of Nevin and then Nevin's son, Kevin Almquist awarded the first two scholarships to Addyson Wright and Courtney Koetting. Both received $1,000 and are working toward their Doctor of Physical Therapy degrees at the University of Missouri-Columbia.

Doug Freed, a local artist and long-time friend of the Almquists, donated a painting in Nevin's memory. Titled, "Seascape" the painting hangs in the southwest entry lobby.

Thank you to everyone who attended the event and shared their memories of Nevin. His family was touched and appreciative.

What does it mean to be nonprofit?

While for-profit organizations distribute surplus revenue to shareholders or owners, nonprofit organizations invest these earnings back into their organizations to further achieve their mission and goals. As a nonprofit hospital, Bothwell Regional Health Center reinvests profits back into the hospital and clinics in our community by providing community benefit programs and charity care.

100% of your donations benefit the cause.

Bothwell Regional Health Center covers all foundation operating costs, which means that donor funds are never used to pay for any administrative costs. Because of this, 100% of your donation stays local and benefits our community by going directly to where it is needed most – patient care, programs and services.

Donor Wall Updated with Digital Displays

Two digital displays have been added to the foundation's donor wall located on the first floor of the hospital. The displays are being used to share news and information about foundation events and recognize donors in the new Annual Support, Special Prospects and Employee Giving clubs.

From the Bothwell CEO

Lori Wightman, RN, FACHE

"For Bothwell to thrive and remain an independent community hospital, it will take all of this and more."

My tenure as Bothwell CEO so far has been somewhat of a roller coaster. From learning new names and faces and becoming involved in a new community to leading Bothwell through a pandemic and the economic reality of running a community hospital, I have been humbled and moved over and again.

More recently, I am inspired by the foundation's recent shift in priorities. Leadership and new committees are laser focused on creating more and stronger relationships and positioning the foundation as a preeminent charitable organization in our community.

For Bothwell to thrive and remain an independent community hospital, it will take all of this and more. Some of you may think, "what does being an independent hospital mean?" It means that a corporate office, far removed from Sedalia, is not making decisions about what is best for our community. We are. Our local governing board, not an urban corporate board, sets our strategic direction, provides fiscal oversight and ensures safe patient care. We do. Our destiny is our own picture to create and paint. We will.

The role of philanthropy will be increasingly important to the future of Bothwell. I am grateful the foundation shares in the goal of Bothwell remaining an independent community hospital providing care for the next 93 years. I appreciate your donations of money, time and talent.

Thank you for showing up for Bothwell Regional Health Center. Your support is invaluable.
