A LEGACY OF GENEROSITY

Lovealls' kindness lives on in donation to Bothwell

Gene Loveall, a dear friend of Bothwell Regional Health Center and the Sedalia community, died on Aug. 4. He and his wife, Frances, leave behind a legacy of generosity and kindness that will continue to make a difference for years to come.

The Lovealls moved to Sedalia in 1987 after selling a chain of western wear stores they opened in North Carolina after Gene retired from the Marine Corps.

They returned to Missouri, because it was Gene's home state. He grew up on a dairy farm near Chilhowee, one of 11 children. Gene and Frances bought 40 acres outside the west city limits of Sedalia, and it wasn't long before he opened Gene's Boots & Hats in the Thompson Hills Shopping Center.

Today, Dr. and Mrs. Doug Kiburz own that 40 acres where the Lovealls built their first home in Sedalia. "Gene had cleared the 40 acres by hand and kept it up like a golf course like the Marine he was," Dr. Kiburz said. "Frances kept the house white-glove clean. Connie and I love the land hopefully as much as Gene and Frances."

In 2003 Frances suffered a stroke, and after four long weeks of driving back and forth to Columbia, Gene was able to bring her back to Sedalia, where she received an additional three weeks of inpatient care in the Skilled Nursing Unit at Bothwell Regional Health Center. After being released from the hospital she returned regularly for out-patient therapy through Bothwell's Cardiac Rehabilitation Department. "Frances basically had to relearn how to do a lot of things, and the people (at Bothwell) helped me get her back," Gene Loveall said.

Dave Floyd, former president of the Bothwell Foundation, recently shared a memory of the couple. "I remember Gene thanking the staff during Frances' rehab, specifically mentioning how they shared in his joy when she had to bake a cake to test her ability. He lovingly thanked the therapists in helping to get her to bake 'the best cake he ever had!'"

Several years later in 2008 Gene received treatment himself at Bothwell when he battled prostate cancer. Gene had praised radiation oncologist Dr. William Decker and the staff of the Susan O'Brien Fischer Cancer Center for the treatment and care after his diagnosis.

Inspired by the care they both received at Bothwell, in 2011 the Lovealls decided to make a $100,000 donation to the Bothwell Foundation, establishing the Frances Loveall Stroke Recovery Fund and the Gene Loveall Cancer Services Fund.

"The Lovealls knew firsthand how important these services are to the community, and their donation will help other patients who face the same health issues," Floyd said.

These funds have paid for various pieces of equipment and other items to benefit patients at the hospital.

Married for 66 years, whatever the Lovealls did, they did together. Gene bid his bride farewell when she passed in October 2016. After her death, his life just wasn't the same, and he joined her on Saturday, Aug. 4, 2018.

The Lovealls were a rare and beautiful couple — poised and genteel while still being down to earth and warm. Their presence will be missed, but their legacy of generosity will continue for years to come. Thank you, Gene and Frances!

Bothwell offering CPR, First Aid classes on Sept. 8

Bothwell Regional Health Center will offer a cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and first aid class for the community on Saturday, Sept. 8. The CPR class will be held from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and the first aid portion will be from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Both classes will be in the Bothwell Education Center at 600 E. 14th Street.

Students will learn how to provide CPR to an adult, child or infant, as well as how to use an automated external defibrillator (AED) on adults and children older than 1. Students in the first aid component will learn basic first aid and other skills to use during medical and injury emergencies.

This course is designed for anyone who wants to learn CPR and first aid, including corporate and retail employees, security, law enforcement, health and fitness staff, and those who need a completion card in CPR, AED and/or first aid.

It is a credentialed program and includes a skills test. The course does not meet the needs of healthcare providers requiring certification. Course curriculum is provided by the American Heart Association.

The cost of the class is $35 for CPR/AED or first aid, or $50 for both the CPR/AED and first-aid components. Preregistration is required and can be completed by contacting Community Outreach Coordinator Melissa Boeschen at 660-827-9138 or mboeschen@brhc.org. Class size is limited.

New state law requires insurance to cover 3D mammograms

Starting this month, all health insurance will now cover 3D mammograms in Missouri.

The technology has been an option for patients, but not required to be covered by insurance.

Skilled Nursing Unit treats patients to an ice cream social

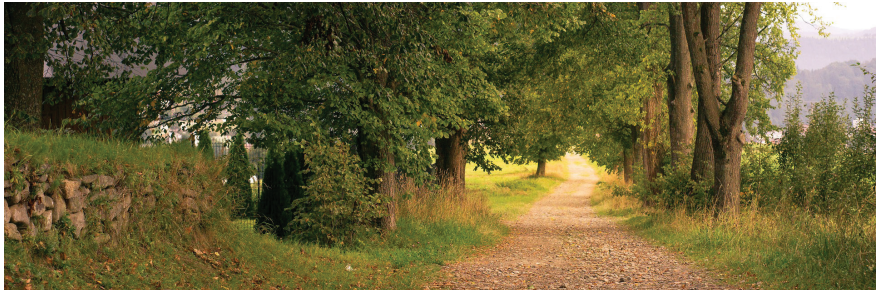

Each month Kelly Bolin, foreground right, a recreation therapist in Bothwell's Skilled Nursing Unit, plans activities and parties tied to holidays or other events for the Skilled Nursing residents to celebrate. This month, the "dog days" of summer inspired an ice cream social.

Medicare and Medicaid already have covered 3D mammograms, but as of Aug. 28, all insurers in Missouri now cover 3D mammograms if that's what the patient wants. The Missouri Legislature passed the measure in this year's legislative session.
